PRODUCT/MODEL: "Crib 'N' Double Bed" full size stationary-side cribs with dowel by Child Craft

BRAND/MODEL: All Child Craft brand cribs with the foot top dowel including but limited to the Child Craft convertible cribs with model number F36101. The name "Child Craft" appears on a label on the crib's frame and identifies the place of manufacture as Salem, Indiana or New Salisbury, Indiana. These cribs were manufactured by Child Craft Industries, Inc. which is no longer in business. This product was sold at Babies 'R Us and other stores nationwide between January 1998 and June 2009 for between $600 and $650.

PROBLEM: The cribs' stationary side can be assembled upside-down but still appear to be assembled correctly. If assembled upside-down, the crib side contains a hazardous five-inch gap at the top of the crib. Infants or toddlers can become entrapped in this gap, which can lead to entrapment, strangulation or other injuries.

REMEDY: Parents and caregivers are urged to examine the crib immediately to determine whether it has been assembled properly. The best way to do this is to measure the gap between the front and back side of the crib and the dowel that runs parallel to the sides. The gap should be no more than 2 3/8 inches. If the gap is greater than 2 3/8 inches, the side has been installed upside-down and needs to be reassembled. Another indicator that the side has been installed improperly is the appearance of the barrel nut. The barrel nut should be at the bottom of the side, not the top. If either of these conditions are present, the side of the cribs has been installed upside down and needs to be re-assembled. Consumers with these cribs should contact Foundations Worldwide, Inc. at (866) 614-0557 or visit www.cribsafetyinfo.com to obtain instructions and decals to affix to the stationary sides of the crib to ensure proper assembly in the future.

This product was sold at Babies "R" Us, Sears, Burlington Coat Factory, Target, and various specialty stores nationwide between January 2000 and July 2009.

PROBLEM: The drop-side hardware can fail, causing the drop-side to detach from the crib or fall to the dropped position. When the drop side detaches, even partially, it creates a space in which an infant or toddler can become entrapped and suffocate or strangled. Drop side incidents can also occur due to incorrect assembly and with age related wear and tear. Additionally, when drop-side hardware fails and/or disengages, an infant or toddler can be injured by falling out of the crib.

REMEDY: Parents and Caregivers are urged to stop using these cribs immediately and find an alternative, safe sleeping environment for their baby. DO NOT ATTEMPT TO FIX THESE CRIBS. Although Foundations Worldwide did not manufacture or sell any of the recalled cribs, it has agreed to provide Child Craft owners with a rebate towards the purchase of a new, fixed-side Child Craft brand crib manufactured by Foundations Worldwide, Inc. For additional information, contact Foundations Worldwide at (866) 614-0557 or visit www.cribsafetyinfo.com.

PRODUCT/FIRM: Drop-Side Cribs by Delta Enterprise

BRAND/MODEL: This recall involves the Delta drop-side cribs with three different types of drop-side hardware and Delta cribs with wooden stabilizer bars that support the mattress platform. Consumers should visit www.cribrecallcenter.com for photographs and models of the affected hardware types and instructions on correct assembly of stabilizer bars. This product was sold at children's product retail stores nationwide and on-line from January 2000 through May 2009 for between $100 and $300.

PROBLEM: The cribs' drop sides can malfunction, detach, or otherwise fail, causing part of the drop side to fall out of position, creating a space into which an infant or toddler can roll and become wedged or entrapped, which can lead to strangulation or suffocation. A child can also fall out of the crib. Drop-side incidents can also occur due to incorrect assembly and with age-related wear and tear. In addition, the wooden stabilizer bars on some Delta drop-side and fixed-side cribs can be installed upside down, which puts extra stress on the crib and can cause the mattress platform to collapse, creating a gap in which an infant or toddler can become entrapped and posing a risk of strangulation or suffocation.

REMEDY: Consumers should immediately stop using the recalled drop-side cribs and contact Delta Enterprise at (877) 342-3418 or visit www.cribrecallcenter.com to receive a free repair kit that will immobilize the drop side. In the meantime, find an alternate, safe sleeping environment for the child, such as a bassinet, play yard, or toddler bed depending on the age of the child. Consumers who have cribs with wooden stabilizer bars supporting the mattress should inspect the stabilizer bars to ensure they are correctly installed in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions and inspect the joints of their crib for any damage. PROBLEM: The cribs' drop side can malfunction, detach or otherwise fail, causing part of the drop-side to fall out of position, creating a space into which an infant or toddler can roll and become wedged or entrapped, which can lead to strangulation or suffocation. A child can also fall out of the crib. Drop-side incidents can also occur due to incorrect assembly and with age-related wear and tear.

REMEDY: Consumers should immediately stop using the recalled cribs and contact LaJobi at (888) 738-5676 any or visit www.lajobi.com for a free repair kit that will immobilize the drop-side. In the meantime, find an alternate, safe sleep environment for the child such as a bassinet, play yard or toddler bed depending on the child's age.
